Bible Study Questions on the Book of Revelation

Introduction:

This workbook was designed for Bible class study, family study, or personal study. The class book is suitable for teens and up. The questions contain minimal human commentary, but instead urge students to study to understand Scripture.

Enough questions are included for teachers to assign as many questions as they want for each study session. Studies may proceed at whatever speed and depth will best accomplish the needs of the students.

Questions labeled "think" are intended to encourage students to apply what they have learned. When questions refer to a map, students should consult maps in a Bible dictionary or similar reference work or in the back of their Bibles. (Note: My abbreviation "b/c/v" means "book, chapter, and verse.")

For class instruction, I urge teachers to assign the questions as homework so students come to class prepared. Then let class time consist of discussion that focuses on the Scriptures themselves. Let the teacher use other Scriptures, questions, applications, and comments to promote productive discussion, not just reading the questions to see whether they were answered "correctly." Please, do not let the class period consist primarily of the following: "Joe, will you answer number 1?" "Sue, what about number 2?" Etc.

I also urge students to emphasize the Bible teaching. Please, do not become bogged down over "What did the author mean by question #5?" My meaning is relatively unimportant. The issue is what the Bible says. Concentrate on the meaning and applications of Scripture. If a question helps promote Bible understanding, stay with it. If it becomes unproductive, move on.

The questions are not intended just to help students understand the Scriptures. They are also designed to help students learn good principles of Bible study. Good Bible study requires defining the meaning of keywords, studying parallel passages, explaining the meaning of the text clearly, making applications, and defending the truth as well as exposing religious error. I have included questions to encourage students to practice all these study principles.

Finally, I encourage plain applications of the principles studied. God's word is written so souls may please God and have eternal life. Please study it with the respect and devotion it deserves!

For whatever good this material achieves, to God be the glory.

Assignment: Introduction to Revelation

Read the whole book of Revelation at least once (or more). Before reading the book, look over the following questions and then answer the questions as you read.

1. Who wrote the book (give b/c/v)?

2. To whom was the book addressed?

3. Make a list of verses containing phrases or words that indicate that the message of the book is largely symbolism (verses that use words such as “like,” “as,” “sign,” “signify,” etc.).

4. Make a list of references that describe or refer to the circumstances/situation faced by the Christians to whom the book was written (include b/c/v).

5. Make a list of references discussing conflict between good and evil and especially those describing the victory of Christ and good over Satan and evil (include b/c/v).

6. Begin a list of passages that indicate who the enemy is that Christians were facing – who was persecuting them, with whom did they have conflict, etc.? (Note: as we study the book add to this list and to the lists in the above assignments.)

7. Summarize the theme of the book. (How do you expect the book to benefit you?)

8. Based on the above information, make a list of principles or guidelines that would help us in our study of this book.

9. Special Assignment: From whatever sources you may consult, make a list of alternative general viewpoints (“interpretations”) of Revelation.

10. Special Assignment: Summarize the doctrine of premillennialism and list Scriptural objections to it.

Note: While you may wish to consult commentaries or similar sources as we study, such human sources should not be accepted as authority in class (“don’t even think about it”). This is a study of the Bible. However, we may refer to such materials briefly from time to time in order to understand what different views people hold or to refute them.
